SUPERVISORS IN REGULAR SESSION

Routine Matters, Pay for Fire-Fighters, Fire in Tunitas Glen Reported

The supervisors met in regular session Monday, November 20, there being present Jos. M. Francis, presiding; Jas. T. Casey, Wm. H. Brown, John MacBain and C. V. Thompson.

The minutes of the meeting of November 6th were read and approved.

Attorney J. E. McCurdy of San Mateo appeared before the board in behalf of A. Roza of Colma and complained about the drainage facilities that had been provided for the San Pedro road which he said was not adequate to carry off the storm waters in the winter time.

He asked the board to make a personal investigation of the situation before the winter set in.

Judge E. F. Fitzpatrick of Redwood City addressed the board in the above matter and in behalf of R. S. Thornton. The board decided on motion of Casey seconded by Thompson to view the situation as a whole with Surveyor Neuman on Wednesday morning, November 22.

A communication from Contractor John McReynolds, through his bondsman, was received asking for an extension to December 20th to complete his contract for the construction of the Crystal Springs to Halfmoon Bay road.

The request was granted on motion of Brown seconded by Thompson.

Attorney M. W. McIntosh appeared before the board in behalf of Mrs. Julia J. Morrison through whose property the proposed new ski-line boulevard is to run and who was allowed $350 damages by viewers appointed by the supervisors. He stated that the proposed road cut in two the most valuable part of the ranch and Mrs. Morrison did not feel that $350 would recompense her for the damage. Mrs. Morrison appeared before the board herself and stated that she believed she should be allowed $1000 damages. After considerable discussion on the part of the supervisors, County Surveyor Neuman, Mrs. Morrison and her attorney, the board agreed on motion of Brown seconded by MacBain to allow Mrs. Morrison $500 and agreed to take care of the fencing of the property when the new road was built.

District Attorney Swart reported that he had taken up with the State Forester the matter of compensation for men who volunteered their services during the recent big forest fires in the Santa Cruz mountains and had been informed that if the supervisors allowed the claims they would be reimbursed in the event of the State paying the claims.

Supervisor MacBain addressed the board at this point and stated that a telephone message had just been received from Tunitas Glen where a big forest fire was raging and twenty men were needed at once to fight the flames.

On motion of MacBain seconded by Casey it was ordered that the sheriff be directed to send 20 men to Tunitas Glen at once who would be instructed to report to the fire warden in charge of the fire fighting. The men were to be allowed county wages during the time they were in service.

A claim of James B. Wandesforde amounting to $30 for compiling indexes in the county assessor's office was ordered paid.

County Auditor J. J. Shields addressed the board and asked the members to renew their action of last may granting him the services of an extra man in his office.

The request of the auditor was granted on motion of Brown seconded by Thompson with the understanding that the date of the extension start from the time of the expiration of the six months.

A communication was received from Alex. D. Bonzani who recently moved his saloon business from Princeton-by-the-sea to the old Kiefer place at La Honda asking permission to conduct his liquor business at the latter place until such time as a new application for a license, he was presenting could be acted upon. The request was granted on motion of MacBain seconded by Casey.

The application og Bonzani for the new license was then given its first reading and will be acted upon a month hence.

On motion of MacBain seconded by Casey Engineer Neuman was instructed to prepare plans and specifications for a box culvert on the Alpine road in the Third Township and to have same ready for the meeting of November 27th.

Surveyor Neuman presented plans and specifications for surfacing and macadamizing the following roads in the first township:

Market and San Bruno avenue to south line of Mt. Olivet cemetery; "F" street between San Bruno avenue and state highway; Market street between Mission road and Allemany street; Mateo avenue between Market street and Vale; County road called Sneath's Lane from state highway west for a distance of about 4000 feet; beginning at end of pavement below Holy Cross, South San Francisco line.

The plans and specifications were adopted on motion of Casey seconded by MacBain and the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids.

On motion of Brown seconded by Thompson the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for two bridges on the Pulgas road near Reed's School in the second district, plans and specifications having been adopted at a previous meeting.

Mrs. Agnes T. Larkin of Millbrae appeared before the board and asked that some action be taken by the members to open a culvert in front of her place on the state highway.

The matter was referred to Supervisor Casey of the first township on motion of MacBain seconded by Brown to report at the next meeting of the board, November 27.

The board adjourned at 12:15 p. m. to meet again Monday, November 27, at 10 a. m.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Recreation.

Recreation is essential to good health. The object of recreation is to give our tired and hard worked minds and bodies, as the case may be, a much needed rest and to give the unused side of our physical or mental makeup a chance for exercise and development.

The person who makes his living by the use of his mental faculties should seek recreation on the golf links, tennis courts, in the automobile, the garden or lawn. He should try hard to forget his regular work. The mental worker needs physical diversion.

But the laboring man who spends all his energies at hard physical labor needs mental diversion. And the laboring man, as well as the mental worker, needs fresh air and plenty of it.

The Greatest Thing.

"What is the greatest thing in the world?" It was asked the scholar, and he gravely answered that learning is, for it comprehends all and promotes all. It was asked the artist, and he cried, "Art, for it combines matter and spirit, both at their best." The preacher solemnly declared, "Religion, because it is a light from heaven." The lawyer argued, "Justice, for it is the soul of peace and progress." "Money," said the banker; "it is the spring of all action." The young man full of hope and spirit cried, "Ambition." Out of his garnered wisdom the weary old toiler answered, "Content." The pair of lovers, hand in hand, lisped together, "Love." The mother with her baby at her breast smiled, "Sacrifice." The wild roisterer cried, "Pleasure." The wan invalid whispered, "Health." To a shambling, grinning fool was put the question. He simpered and said, "I don't know." And which, after all, is really the wisest of them all—from the scholar to the fool?—St. Joseph News Press.

COASTSIDE INCIDENTS

Old Bridge Over the San Gregorio Collapses, Injuring Three Engaged in its Removal

Fred Haegel and two other men named A. Mattson and Harry Davis, respectively, were engaged last Saturday in pulling down the old bridge over San Gregorio creek which is to be replaced by a concrete span. Without warning the structure collapsed and burried the men under its ruins. Hagel fared very badly, he sustained a broken jaw, a broken collarbone and three broken ribs, which pierced one for his lungs. His condition is a most precarious one. Mattson was badly bruised about the body while Davis received an ugly scalp wound. Dr. E. R. Hoffman was sent for and rendered first aid to the injured. Haegel and Davis belong in San Gregorio and Mattson's home is in San Bruno. The old bridge was a landmark in San Mateo county.

Over two hundred students and teachers of the State University at Berkeley chartered a train of five coaches from the O. S. R. R. last Saturday afternoon and visited Moss Beach during low tide.

The Native Sons are planning a big dance for Saturday eve, December 30. The Natives who are most generous fellows do not stop half way and quit whenever they undertake to do a thing. This dance is going to be the talk of the coastside for many days after. Valuable and substantial door prizes will be given away among them a roast sucking pig and several turkeys.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Nelson motored to Mayfield last Sunday where they were guests at the Robert Pitcher home where Mrs. Elizabeth Nelson is staying since her discharge from the hospital. She had intended to return with her children, but on account of the chilly and windy weather she deferred her homecoming.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER

D. E. O'KEEFE, Editor and Proprietor

REFERENCES TO TIMES-GAZETTE TO ESTABLISH BIRTH

So as to prevent the Canadian Government drafting him into the army, George E. Winn, a Redwood City boy now in Vancouver, B. C., where he is in business, has written his mother in Redwood City to send him his birth certificate so he may have proof that he is a citizen of Uncle Sam. The birth certificate has been lost and there is no record of the birth at the courthouse. However, the old files of the Times-Gazette have been looked up and there the birth has been properly recorded. An affidavit from the editor stating this fact will suffice and no birth certificate will be required.

Some years ago a contest arose over a large estate in New York in which the rights of a young man was involved. He could not prove his kinship. He was born in Menlo Park. The files of the Times-Gazette were consulted where the date of the birth was found and this fact won the suit for the boy who received his inheritance of several thousand dollars. The only compensation the proprietor of the paper received was $2.50, one year's subscription to the Times-Gazette.

Curt Meyer, who was admitted to probation by Judge Buck last month for embezzlement committed at San Bruno, has broken his parole. This week he decamped from his mother's home in Oakland with a sum of money taken from his parent. Sheriff Sheehan has been notified and is on the trail of the culprit. Meyer is mentally weak. Judge Buck sent him to Professor Louis M. Turman, a noted sociologist of Stanford, and he reported that although the young man was 24 years old he did not have the brain capacity of a boy of ten. The judge in admitting him to probation thought Meyer's weakness to steal would not develop.

AT SAN BRUNO'S FAIR

Hints of a Romance that Keeps Many People Guessing

A recent Bulletin of the Knights of Columbus containes a very interesting article concerning a pretty romance that had its inception at the recent Catholic fair in aid of the church. We reproduce it for the edification of our San Bruno readers:

The evening was delightful, as it usually is at this season of the year at San Bruno. The autumn leaves were falling and the very air seemed laden with its choicest elements. All was loveliness. It was Columbus night at the Catholic Fair at San Bruno and the youth and beauty of the Peninsula had gathered there to aid in the good cause of the parish. Long before 8 o'clock, Green's Hall was crowded and in the midst of this busy scene a car rolled up to the spacious hall, and a young lady was seen to alight and unescorted entered the fairyland. She was tall, graceful, elegantly dressed and of the charming blonde type of lovely womanhood. The young lady was apparently unknown and unnoticed by the large gathering, notwithstanding her ususual attractiveness. She visited the different booths and made several purchases, and in this way contented herself as the evening rolled on. At the northwesterly corner of the hall and directly opposite the entrance was located the "Booth of Erin," one of the most prominent and busy places in the fair. Here was where the romance developed. Lingering near by was noticed a youthful looking stranger. He did not appear to be much over the age of majority and presented every appearance of a professional man He seemed nervous. Leisurely coming along the opposite side and making her way through the crowd, the lady of mystery of whom we have been speaking, approaches the "Booth of Erin." The youthful stranger glanced at the young lady. He was smiling, but did not speak. They met side by side under the banner of Erin, and each looked at the other seriously for a moment, then smiled and happy greetings followed. "When last I saw thy young blue eyes, they smiled."

The mystery was solved. It appears they were friends in childhood, but fate had separated them in youth, and strange to say fate united them in their mature years. Distance may lend enchantment in many cases, here the love in youth was not doomed by separation nor dimmed by time.

"Let mutual joys and our mutual trust combine and love and loveborn confidence be ever thine."

Of course no one would pretend to assume to fathom the depth of the happiness of these young people at that moment.

A midnight was drawing near and the day was folding up to fade away forever, this happy couple went arm in arm toward the entrance and soon out into the soft moonlight beyond and were seen no more.

Thus one of the big events of one of the most successful fairs ever held in the parish had reached an end, though romantically.

What will follow? Who knows?

The young lady, we have since been told, resides with a widowed aunt near Colma, in Father Clifford's parish, while others have it that she resides at Burlingame, in Father Grant's parish. It may be truthfully said, however, that she is a young lady of rare accomplishments, having graduated from one of the eastern convents. The young man resides in South San Francisco, in Father Moran's parish, and holds a very prominent position in one of the big companies there.

ABOUT AN AEROLITE AND OPALS

Opals or Aerolite from the sky is on exhibition in Germania hall building in this city. It is the only one ever secured. Large crowds of people of Redwood City are seeing the wonderful stone. A. A. Rose and C. E. Tupper, who have charge of the exhibit, will remain here for some time.

During the day of January 6, 1914, J. W. Shores, a retired rancher, was plowing on his farm near Long Gulch in Tuolumne county, California, when he heard a swish, saw a streak of light and felt a luminous object shoot past him at lightning speed. Running to a gulch, he and others were driven back by the intense heat.

After twenty-four hours the place had so cooled that they were able to go near it. Five feet underground they found a meteor weighing 400 pounds, imbedded on a stratum of hardpan. Digging it up he took it to Oakland where attempts were made to steal the meteor, and it had to be guarded with a gun.

A sample of the meteor was delivered to the State Mineralogist in the Ferry Building at San Francisco for his examination, and experts after examinating the meteor gave it as their opinion that the celestial visitor is an areolite, composed of sand and rock fused at an exceedingly high temperature into opalite. The difference between a meteor and an areolite is that the former contains iron, while the latter is fused out of metoric dust in the higher atmosphere.

A Stockton jeweler offered $2,000 for the stone to make opal sets from.

This are lite may have traveled two hundred million miles ,and could have been as large as Goat Island, but the friction caused by its terrific speed while passing through space burns it up, and very seldom do they reach the earth's atmosphere.

The areolite is nearly as hard as a diamond and will cut glass the same as a diamond and fractionizes the same as flint.

ASKS FOR NEW TRIAL—

George A. Kertell, executor of the last will and testament of Arthur L. Wilson, deceased, defendant in the action of Anna E. Hickey and others through his attorney, J. E. McCurdy, has given notice that he will ask for a new trial. The grounds on which he will ask for a new trial are, ineufficiency of the evidence to justify the judgment and the aid judgment is against law, errors in law occuring at the trial and excepted to by aid defendants. The action was commenced to quiet title to certain property at San Mateo and in possession of plaintiffs. The contest is to secure possession of the choice realty.

Frank T. Bartlett of San Francisco and a former under sheriff of this county was in town on Thursday greeting his old friends. Mr. Bartlett has the contract for waterproofing the new county jail building. He also did the waterproofing on the Sequoia theatre.

The Colusa sandstone for the front and sides of the new jail building arrived yesterday and stonemasons will begin to put it in place next week. Mr. Hunt of San Francisco has the contract for the work. It is believed the building will be completed about the first of the new year.

Mrs. J. L. Lyons, who has been a guest of the Byrds of this city for the past year, departed for her home in Arizona for the holidays. Her husband is a wealthy mine owner of that state. Mrs. Lyons will probably make her permanent home in Redwood City. She will return after the first of the year.

John Tribolet and P. Chavis of this city took down the old flag pole from the Pioneer Stable that was put up by Sam Cook and Thomas Dugan over thirty years ago. There was no ceremony in taking the old land mark down but much ado was made in placing it in position above the stable in those bygone days. The flag pole will find a resting place on Frank K. Towne's housetop in Wellesley Park.

The annual inspection of the Southern Pacific station here took place on Thursday. The station agent, Mr. Stone, was highly complimented for the neat appearance of the building. On Monday Sheriff Sheehan took over to the scene of the flames 20 fire fighters and after much hard work the flames were put under control on Wednesday. KENNETH M. GREEN WINS DAMAGE SUIT

Verdict for $15,000 Rendered, for Serious Injuries Sustained While Boarding Train

The damage suit of Kenneth M. Green against the South San Francisco Railroad and Power Company began in the superior court last Monday before Judge Buck and a jury. A verdict was rendered late Wednesday afternoon in favor of Mr. Green for $15,000. The action was brought to recover $31,478.90 for the loss of plaintiff's left arm in January 1913 at South San Francisco.

Green's claim was that in attempting to board a Southern Pacific train at South San Francisco he tripped over the rails of the South San Francisco railway, which protruded three or four inches above the surface of the ground at that point. He fell under the wheels of the train and his left arm was amputated at the shoulder. He alleges negligence upon the railway company's part for allowing its rails to be in a dangerous position.

Among the witnesses for Green were Dr. A. L. Offield of Burlingame, who attended him for several months after the accident; Julian D. Riordan of San Mateo, who was at that time motorman on the South San Francisco street car line and who found Green unconscious on the night of the accident; Constable James C. Wallace of South San Francisco, Jim Anderson and T. C. McGovern of the same place, all of whom were called to the scene of the accident; and Judge Milton J. Green, father of the plaintiff.

William F. Cannon of San Francisco and Albert Mansfield of Redwood represented the railroad company and Joseph J. Bullock of this city appeared for Mr. Green. The case was bitterly fought, every technicality being taken advantage of by the contending forces. Mr. Bullock's argument to the jury was forceful, convincing and eloquent. After the conclusion of the trial he was heartil congratulated by his friends. Mr. Cannon is a very able attorney and he also delivered a splendid address to the jury. After deliberating for forty minutes the jury returned with a unanimous verdict of $15,000. It was learned that a few of the jurymen voted as high as $25,000 while some balloted for $10,000, but the majority held out for $15,000. The case will be appealed. The big victory for Mr. Green is a feather in the cap of his lawyer, Mr. Bullock.

The jury was composed of the following citizens: Catherine A. Green, Martin Albrecht, Percy Weeks, Lena Deker, Sarah R. Hammerson, Tony Casaretto, J. P. Foley, Glenn Kreiss, Henry Butts, John Poole, Camille F. Banassini and James D. Kerr.

"HELP BOOST COUNTY" IS WHAT ALL SAY

The Boosting Spirit Is Abroad In the Land and Everybody Should Show Interest

A few years will see California much more densely populated. Many of its spirited little cities will become centers of trade, and of those which do, it will be because of the united efforts of the citizens in encouraging trade and other interests necessary to the growth of a town.

We believe we are peculiarly well situated to be caught up in the tide and ride proudly forward on the topmost wave of prosperity. We should clear the shore of the breakwater of jealously, discontent and discouragement. We should have strong faith in its possibilities and pull together with even and steady stroke. Our splendid school privileges will prove an incentive to draw. Stand up for the old home town! Save your money and when you spend it, spend it, spend it at home. Some of it will be sure to come back to you. When able to build, build a home and encourage your friends to do the same. Encourage everyone to come and live with us. During the past few years many strangers have settled in the community through the encouragement of friends here. They are good citizens; they build or buy substantial homes and take an active interest in the general welfare of the town. Keep your business to the front, and every interest of the town on the observatory, to be seen by the world.

We presume that every citizen of our town is, or ought to be, desirous to see it advance, to see it improve, to see it advance in all the interests that pertain to a town of thrift and enterprise. Again we presume that if you, who live in your town, make no effort in this direction, who, if there are any benefits accruing therefrom would be the recipients thereof, we do not believe our neighbors, who have no particular interest in our welfare, would be so very mindful of us as to give us a boost by investing a few thousand dollars for our especial good, or starting any enterprise that would be for the upbuilding of our town. If a town is ever built up and placed in a growing condition it will be directly or indirectly due to those who live in it, and if you wish to know the steps to be taken we will cite a few.

Talk it up, its interests, its facilities and various adaptabilities to different branches of industry. Write about it, beautify its streets, invest your money in it, patronize its merchants and every enterprise started as far as it is at all consistent, elect good men to office, be courteous to never let an opportunity to speak a good word about it pass. Remember that every dollar you invest in a permanent improvement is that much money at interest and is that much toward building up your town.

There is no quicker way to take the life, growth and energy out of a town than for its citizens to be constantly holding up the dark side of the picture to the gaze of the inquirer. The word "if" keeps everyone in doubt, and doubt keeps every man from going forward with the improvements he would otherwise make. There is nothing like confidence to make a success of anything and if you haven't got any of it, don't communicate the fact to your neighbor, much less to a stranger, and if the bent of your mind is to continually go against every interest of the town in which you live for the sake of the twon get out of it and go to some place that is already lifeless and has no interests at stake, where you, like the old lady's root beer, if you don't do any good you won't do any hurt.

TOWN TRUSTEES FAVOR PROMPT PAY

Casual Employes of City Helped by Action Taken to Pay Them At Least Once a Week

At Monday evening's meeting of the town board, Trustee Merrill brought up the point of paying casual employes of the city at least once a week so that they would not be compelled by need of their pay to discount their claims before having them allowed by the board which ordinarily allows claims but once a month. Trustee Merrill contended that if a man were given a few days work and then laid off he should be paid at that time. Superintendent Dickey told of the difficulty some men experienced in waiting for their pay. Other members of the board were in favor of some system that would do away with the present delay in paying. Attorney Mansfield was instructed to amend the ordinance providing the method of how claims are to be paid so that employees of the street and water departments may get their money every week upon orders certified by the head of the department and signed by the president and clerk of the board.

Arnold Hess Helps City Finish Center Street

The offer of A. Hess to wait until April for his pay for additional filling material beyond what had already been contracted for and delivered, made it possible to complete the fill on Center street for the full width of the street. In this way there will be no delay in improving the street as all the filling will settle together. The board plans on improving the street about a year hence as the expense has already been advanced the abuting property owners by the town when the street was put through some time ago. The additional fill will take about 600 yards of earth which will cost about $300.

New sidewalks on El Camino Real on lots previously used as roadways will be protected by fiencing by Superintendent of Streets Dearborn on order of the board.

Other Business

Mary B. Brittan was granted a permit to connect with the city water mains at the corner of Edgewood Road and Ashley avenue. She will be one of a number of people who live beyond the city limits and get their water at this point. Meters are set at the end of the city's pipe line and water is sold to them at meter rates the same as the people inside of town.

City engineer Porter was instructed to purchase the necessary furniture for his office in the Town Hall annex which is being fitted up permanently for the engineering department.

Monday evening, December 11, was set as the date for the joint meeting for members of the board and fire delegates to elect general officers for the fire department for the coming year.

SUIT BROUGHT ON CLAIM OF NUISANCE

Some Interesting Legal Points Likely to Be Raised by Both Prosection and Defense

John F. Davis, city attorney for the town of Burlingame, on Thursday filed a complaint against the E. W. McLellan Company under the title of The People of the State of California against the E. W. McLellan Company, charging the defendants with conducting a nuisance and asking the court to restrain the concern from continuing. The defendant conducts a nursery at Burlingame and at different times of the year hauls large quantities of manure to the premises which emit a vile odor making it almost unbeaarble for the numerous famalies nearby to reside in that community. On October 16 last the board of town trustees of the town declared the nurseries a nuisance and directed the city attorney to begin legal proceedings to abate the same. Mr. Davis filed the complaint as authorized by section 731 of the code of civil procedure of the State of California. Mr. Davis in his complaint asks: "That defendants, and each of them, their agents, servants, and employees be enjoined from carrying on the aforesaid business by means of the processes herein complained of: 2.—That the said means and processes of carrying on said business be declared a public nuisance and that same be abated: 3—That plaintiff have such further and different relief in the premises as seems meet and proper."

"Billy" is dead. He has gone to the happy hunting grounds where all good dog go. "Bill," as he was familiarly known and called by everyone in town, was a protege of the Maloney garage. The canine was a retriever and knew the haunts of duck and quail as well as any expert hunter. "Billy" committed suicide at Los Banos on Wednesday. With a party of hunters he went to the latter place. The dog was tied to the seat of the automobile while the hunters went in search of game. "Billy" presumably feeling the slight of not being taken along jumped from the seat and hung himself. "Billy" will be missed from his old haunts. He was a familiar figure in town.

The annual inspection of the different stations along the coast division of the Southern Pacific Company took place Thursday. Those making the inspection were the superintendents of the various divisions of the Southern Pacific system and the heads of departments. The party highly complimented Mr. Sherman, agent here, for the neat appearance of the building and grounds. The interior of the station was decorated with potted plants, ferns and Japanese peppers. This is a premium station, the medal having been won by Mr. Sherman last year. From the attractive appearance of the sattion on Thursday it would be no surprise if Mr. Sherman carried off the honors again.

John Gilcrest, well known garage man and farmer and brother of Andrew Gilcrest, the hotelman, suffered a severe attack of paralysis here last Sunday. He was unconscious for several days. He finally rallied, however, and now is on a fair way to recovery, although the danger point has not yet been passed . For several days before the stroke Mr. Gilcrest had been feeling ill. Sunday morning he tried to arise for bed and fell upon the floor unconscious. Medical aid was sent for and everything was done for him. The right side of his body was affected by the stroke. Mr. Gilcrest was born and raised on the coastside and has a great many friends here and throughout the county who will be pained to learn of his illness. Mrs. Jas. T. O'Keefe, his sister, came over from Menlo Park on Sunday and has been at her brother's bedside ever since.

WOODSIDE ITEMS OF WEEK'S DOINGS

Large truck loads of choice trees and plants are being received at the Rolph ranch here. The popular mayor of San Francisco is improving his vast acres. His home is to be one of the show places of the peninsula.

A. Neuman, one of the oldest and most respected pioneers of Woodside, returned from the Red Cross hospital at San Mateo yesterday after spending three weeks at that institution. He has recovered his health and never felt better in his whole life. His many friends are pleased to learn of his return.

Mrs. Charles Bradley and her young son came down from Emerald Bay, Lake Tahoe, last week to spend a month with friends in Woodside. Her husband will arrive here on the latter part of the month when he will likely go to Long Beach to spend the winter. The Bradleys always spend the summer at the lake.

W. H. BROWN JR. BADLY HURT

William H. Brown Jr., son of the supervisor of the second township and a resident of San Mateo, is in a critical condition in the Red Cross hospital in San Mateo resultant of an accident in San Anselmo, where he was run over by a steamroller weighing eight tons. He was brought to San Mateo on Wednesday from Ross, where he was temporarily placed in a sanitarium. The accident happened Tuesday afternoon.

Brown's injuries consist of a badly lacerated body, broken right leg, and a small bone in each hip is fractured. Dr. Wood C. Baker of San Mateo is the attending physician. Reports from the hospital last evening indicate that the young man will recover. Mr. Brown and his family have the deepest sympathy of every one in their sad affair.

SAN MATEO ELKS AND MOOSE BROUGHT INTO LIMELIGHT

George A. Kertell of San Mateo Co. on Tuesday demanded action in the case of the Elk's Club and the Moose Club, both of which, he declares, maintain barrooms in violation of the law.

In a letter to the board of trustees Kertell registered formal complaint against the two clubs. The trustees have placed themselves on record as favoring the reduction of the number of the city's saloons from seventeen to seven, with an increased annual license of $1,000. The plan is to have the saloonmen offer a premium or bonus for the seven saloon licenses by competitive bidding on March 1, 1917. The seven highest bidders will obtain the licenses. Kertell's theory is to have the Elks and Moose enter into the competitive bidding, the club bars to be governed by the regulations of the saloon ordinance.

The complaint will be taken up at the next meeting of the city trustees.

FATALITY IN A WORD.

Why France Changed the Name of the "Life Saving Belt."

A vivid illustration of the power of mere words over human beings was once brought to the attention of French people by Francisque Sarcey.

After the wreck of the Bourgogne many passengers were found floating drowned with life preservers on. These life preservers were fastened upon the bodies, but round the middle instead of under the arms, and the greater weight of the upper part of the body had tipped the head under water and the person of course was inevitably drowned.

Now it appears that the greater number of the persons so drowned were French. The French term for life preserver is ceinture de sauvetage, or "life saving belt." This word ceinture suggests to the mind in its moments of disorder and unreadiness, such as a great catastrophe brings, the idea of putting on a belt, and as a belt is put round the waist and nowhere else the frightened person instinctively adjusts the life preserver close about the hips.

The result is that as soon as the person so provided falls into the water his body tips over, with the heavier part downward, and the head is plunged beneath the surface.

The word "belt," therefore, was the cause of the loss of many lives in the Bourgogne disaster. Sarcey accordingly proposed to counteract the fatal effect of the French word by renaming the article and calling it a brassiere, which is a kind of waist, and by bringing the word bras, or arm, to mind to teach people to put a life preserver on just underneath the arms.

ANCIENT POSTAL SERVICE.

The Old Persian and Roman System of Couriers on Horseback.

While the Roman postal service of ancient days was, of course, a crude system, yet the mails were forwarded with considerable speed. The system of couriers on horseback was borrowed from the Persians, who, according to Xenophon, had established it under Cyrus. The Roman adaptation of this was the best system of transmitting letters among the ancients.

All along the great Roman roads stations were erected at distances of five or six miles from one another. At each of these stations forty horses were constantly maintained, and by the help of relays it was easy to travel 100 miles in a day.

These services were intended for the state only, it being imperative to secure the rapid interchange of official communications. In the time of Julius Caesar the system was so well organized that of two letters the great soldier wrote from Britain to Cicero at Rome the one reached its destination in twenty-six and the other in twenty-eight days.

Private citizens were obliged to resort to the services of slaves, and it was not until the end of the third century that there was an establishment of a postal system for private persons by the Emperor Diocletian, but how long this system endured history does not inform us.

The supply of horses and their maintenance was compulsory, and only the emperor could grant exemption from it.—Washington Star.

Weakness of the Great.

The two greatest men who appear in "Julius Caesar"—namely, Caesar himself and Cicero—are allotted but minor parts in Shakespeare's play, and to each with daring originality the dramatist has attributed a physical defect, for the existence of which history supplied him with no evidence. Caesar, for instance, confesses to deafness, bidding Antony—

"Come on my right hand, for this ear is deaf," while Brutus speaks of Cicero's "ferret and fiery eyes," as if no one could fail to note them. Respect for those two immortals was no doubt thus diminished, but by showing them as not above human weaknesses Shakespeare made them more easily realized. —London Opinion.

Smiling at Breakfast.

One should always wear a smile at breakfast. If you are in a good humor at breakfast you will be merry and bright all day. The breakfast face is the most important face to cultivate. The other faces take care of themselves, for if the face is pleasant and easy to look upon in the morning it will improve as the day goes on. But if the breakfast face is hard, scowling and forbidding it becomes set in its disagreeable form, and it takes hours for it to smooth out into a smile, and that smile is of the sickly, half-hearted nature that only expands the heart slightly. It is worth trying.

Not Good For the Gander.

The following sign is displayed in a certain bathhouse:

"This Place Is Closed at 1 p. m. Sunday So We Can Go Home and Take Our Baths."

Which is very similar to the note a traveling man found on the door of a lunchroom in a small town:

"Gone Home to Dinner."—Indianapolis News.

The Largest Painting.

"Paradise," by Tintoretto, is the largest painting in the world. It is eighty-four feet wide and thirty-three and a half feet high. It is now in the Doge's palace, Venice.

Sure to Grow.

"What you said about Jack isn't worth repeating."

"It's young yet, give it time."—Exchange.

The future is purchased by the present.—Johnson.

Humility Not All.

Humility is the part of wisdom and is most becoming in men. But let no one discourage self reliance. It is of all the greatest quality of true manliness.—Louis Kossuth.

Evidently She Did.

"Does your wife like pets?"

"She must. I rarely go home without finding her in one."—Boston Transcript.

As small letters hurt the sight, so do small matters him that is too much intent upon them.—Plutarch.
